The Lethbridge Herald of Saturday commented: An interesting feature of the Crows' Nest Pass festival will be a competition including Bohemian, French and Italian choruses. Foreign born in our midst have much they can contribute to the arts of this country, and we can learn considerably from them.

H. G. McCrea, editor of the Hanna Herald and secretary-treasurer of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, has had his right leg amputated below the knee. But a few years ago his left arm was taken off near the shoulder. And still Herb is as good a man as the best of them.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Wednesday next will be observed throughout Canada and the Empire as Remembrance Day, but not declared a public holiday. It has been left optional with communities as to whether or not the day shall be observed as a holiday.

However, as far as can be learned, the day will be a whole holiday in Blairmore.

The usual Remembrance Day service will be held at 10:45 a.m. in the Orpheum Theatre, which as formerly has been kindly loaned for the occasion by the proprietor, Mr. R. Rinaldi.

The service will be under the chairmanship of Mr. J. Angus MacDonald, and under the auspices of the Blairmore Branch of the B.E.S.L. and Crows' Nest Chapter of the I.O.D.E.

Addresses will be delivered by J. H. Farmer and John Shevels (of Bellevue), followed by the Roll Call and "The Last Post," to be sounded by Trumpeter A. Foster.

Immediately after the service, members of the I.O.D.E., the general public and Veterans will proceed to the cemeteries, where soldiers' graves will be decorated.

FAT'S BOWLING ALLEYS WILL OPEN IN FEW DAYS

The final touches to what is to be known as Fat's Bowling Alleys are being made by the Britannia Paint Works, of Bellevue. When completed it will be one of the "neatest, best equipped and most attractive bowling emporiums in the province.

The property, formerly F. S. Kafoory's premises, was purchased a few months ago by Joe Frank, proprietor of the Rex Cafe. Since the purchase, Mr. Frank has built an extension to the rear of the building to permit the standard size alleys. In other ways he has spent thousands of dollars to introduce a new pastime for those who tire from summer sports.

We understand that Mr. Val. Rinaldi will be in charge as manager, his assistant or assistants not yet announced.

THOMAS SMITH LAID TO REST

The remains of Thomas Smith, who died in an Edmonton hospital, were laid to rest in the Blairmore Protestant cemetery on Sunday afternoon, following services conducted at the home in Bellevue and the Crows' Nest funeral chapel at Blairmore by Revs. John Wood and R. Upton.

The funeral cortege left Bellevue about 2 p.m., all by auto, reaching Blairmore about 2:40.

A native of Wigan, Lancashire, England the late Mr. Smith came to The Pass quite a number of years ago, first securing employment at Coleman, later at Blairmore, and for the past few years at Bellevue.

Four daughters survive, Mrs. J. McAndrew and Mrs. E. Womersley at Blairmore, Mrs. DeLuca at Michel, and Mrs. Whitmore, at Creston; and one young son at home with Mrs. Smith.

Floral offerings were many and beautiful.

Local funeral arrangements were in charge of A. E. Ferguson, of the Crows' Nest Undertaking Co.

Miners of Bellevue and Blairmore attended in a body. At the graveside the last rites of the union were administered.

K. P. Stewart, A. B. King and Ed. Duthie were among the many Fernie people to come down for the closing programmes of the festival.

Hon. C. P. Fullerton, former chairman of the Canadian National Railway's board of trustees, will receive $30,000, one year's salary, as a retiring allowance. Almost anyone could retire on that.

An interesting visitor to Blairmore during the festival was Mrs. Finley, of Cranbrook, who, with her several children, were guests at the Cosmo-politan hotel. Two of the boys competed in violin and piano. Mrs. Finley was formerly Miss Carr, and was waitress in a local hotel up to about 22 years ago. They now reside at Cranbrook.

The Mached Golf Club has been incorporated under the Societies Act. Objects are to promote interest in the game of golf, to protect the mutual interest of its members, to provide by lease or purchase a place suitable for the playing of the game of golf, and suitable premises and accommodation for the use of the members of the Golf Club.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

(Contributed by Rev. J. F. Butcher, Chaplain, Medicine Hat Branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.)

The Eleventh of November has been set apart by the Government of Canada, as "Remembrance Day." On this date, eighteen years ago, the Great War ended, a war which lasted over four years and in which 562,208 men and women of the British Empire, including 60,000 Canadians, laid down their lives for honor, justice and freedom, principles for which we too should be "every-ready to live or die valiantly."

"Remembrance Day" is not a holiday; it is a Holy Day, sacred to the memory of our heroic dead. It reminds us that Canada stood with the other great Dominions side by side with the Motherland; that nearly 600,000 Canadians were under arms; that 2,500 nurses enlisted; that both nurses and men proved themselves equal to those who had had years of training for Active Service; that thousands of broken hearts and bodies and lighted lives resulted; and that 60,000 Canadians lie sleeping in the "Garden of the Dead" in Flanders and other battlefields. Why? The answer is given in the words of Sir Robert Borden, then Prime Minister: "Not for love of battle, not for glory, but for the sake of the future, for the sake of the peace, for the sake of the world."

You are familiar with the following words: "My duty to my country is to love it, to obey and maintain its laws, respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies." This is exactly what these brave men and women did who gave their lives for the land they loved. Is it not fitting, therefore, that this day should be set apart as a memorial to them, and as an opportunity for us to salute them in reverence and gratitude.

There are set up in almost every city, town and village in Canada, memorials to these heroes. Respect, and care for these evidences of our country's gratitude all your lives, for on them are engraved the names of those who made the supreme sacrifice that you might live in peace and safety.

On Wednesday an Empire will stand at attention, its speech silenced, its thought centred upon the brave dead. It is inspiring to know that millions of grateful people in our vast empire will take part in this sacred act of remembrance. Will you join them? Be present at the ceremony to be held on that day and in the "Two Minutes Silence" listen to the spirit voices of the War dead in the Great Beyond, as they cry:

"To you from falling hands we throw
The Torch—be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep though peopled grow
In Flanders' Fields."

Contract for construction by the Canadian National Railways of a line from Senneterre, Quebec, to Rouyn, Quebec, at a price of $1,250,000 has been awarded to Fred Mannix, of Calgary.

Once again Alberta civil servants have been informed that Prosperity Certificates are available to them. Pity the civil servants, for if they don't accept them voluntarily something will happen. Why, they may even be licensed!

The Blairmore Beacrets hockey club has been reorganized for the 1936-37 season, with the following officers: H. Spicer, president; J. V. McDougall, secretary-treasurer; Robt. Pinkney, manager; Jack Kwamie (formerly of the Coleman Canadians) temporary coach. The club has decided to enter the Crows' Nest Hockey League.

CRANBROOK CHURCH ORGANIST HAS FINE REPUTATION

Thomas S. Beynon, L.L.C.M., L.R.S.M., the newly appointed organist at Knox Presbyterian church, Cranbrook, has a splendid list of accomplishments to his credit, and is still quite a young man. Born in Wales, he was trained vocally since infancy, and received his L.L.C.M. when but 17 years of age. In his home country he was organist in the Baptist church in the city in which he lived and had charge of the juvenile choir.

Leaving the Old Country, he located in the Crows' Nest Pass, and for eight years was organist and choir leader in the United church at Hillcrest. There he also conducted the Hillcrest Male choir for three years, and the Blairmore Male choir for two years and conducted the Crows' Nest Choral Society for one season. He has won premier awards at each of the annual musical festivals held at Blairmore.

Mr. Beynon says he tutored himself for his L.R.S.M., and won honor marks in the harmony section. He will be a valuable acquisition to the musical life of Cranbrook and district—Cranbrook Courier.

$500,000 A DAY

Every business day last year policyholders and beneficiaries of life insurance companies operating in Canada received over half-a-million dollars. Seventy-five per cent of this money went to living persons.

There could be no more striking indication of the democratic character and far-reaching influence of this, the greatest co-operative business in the Dominion. It represents 3,500,000 men and women—half the adult population of the Dominion—half the electorate, federal and provincial.

Through their hard-earned savings, Canadian life insurance policyholders and beneficiaries have created an estate of over six billion dollars and have assets invested in the Dominion of over two billion dollars.

These funds, invested in bonds and mortgages in every province and municipality in Canada, promote national development, provide employment throughout the Dominion, help homes and farms, and bring business to the general store and country merchant.

AXE FALLS ON LABOR DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS

Edmonton, Oct. 31.—Reorganization of government branches "with a view to economical administration and increased efficiency," was announced by Hon. E. C. Manning, Alberta minister of trade and industry today. Under the changes, effective at once, the labor branch will cease to exist, and its activities will be spread among other departments.

Three senior officials in the labor branch are being retired: Walter Smitten, labor commissioner; E. F. Howard, provincial industrial standards officer, and G. W. Eddy, chief clerk of the labor branch. Mr. Manning said the treasury would have an annual saving of eight to ten thousand dollars yearly.

In a second announcement, Mr. Manning said the board of industrial relations had been formed under authority of the act limiting hours of work in industrial undertakings. Clayton Adams, Edmonton, is chairman. Other members are W. D. King, deputy minister of trade and industry, and D. Victor Wright, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board. Mr. Adams will serve as industrial standards officer.

NOTE—We are asked to announce that an auction sale scheduled to be held at the Rock Creek Hereford Ranch on Thursday next has been cancelled, the purchaser of the ranch taking over everything "lock, stock and barrel."

NO CHANGE IN BRITISH POLICY SAYS BALDWIN

London.—Prime Minister Baldwin declared in the House of Commons that there had been some breaches of the Spanish non-intervention agreement on both sides, but they were not of sufficient importance to cause a change in British policy.

In his first appearance since his illness, the prime minister wound up the debate.

"The general impression the government has formed," he said, "is that there have been some breaches and arms have been sent to both sides. But they have not been near sufficiently important to cause us to modify our policy in regard to non-intervention."

Mr. Baldwin then began to discuss Communism and Fascism.

"Thank God, as far as Britain is concerned, these two forces are not worth that," he declared, snapping his fingers.

The difference between democracies and autocracies, he said, was that the former advantages its troubles to the world.

"Under authoritarianism," he added, "we have to guess their troubles. Our system is the healthier, notwithstanding incidents like the Nuffield controversy, where the differences were broadcast, exaggeratedly in authoritarian states."

Attacking Communism, the prime minister said it will neither brook, realize, understand nor allow any fact that clashes with what it wants to believe. Moreover, he declared, it bred Fascism.

In the course of the debate, the Labor and Liberal spokesmen, Arthur Greenwood and Sir Archibald Sinclair, respectively, both demanded to know what was happening in the Balearic Islands where the Italians were said to be securing control.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden defended the Portuguese government against Russian charges of Spanish neutrality violation.

"Not a single one of the Soviet charges against the Portuguese government has been proved," he told the house.

"The chief complainant against the workings of the non-intervention agreement is Soviet Russia," Eden continued, "which charges Portugal with infringement."

"We have no information whatsoever to support the Soviet charges."

"Nor has the non-intervention committee been able to support any single one of the Soviet charges against the Portuguese government."

"There is no first hand evidence available that the Portuguese government is breaking the agreement."

Eden asserted Britain would hold fast to the non-intervention pact despite opposition from Labor groups.

"Supplies sent from this country," he said, "would not have had an important bearing on the result in Spain."

Turning to face Labor leaders who have pressed for direct aid, he declared:

"What you are asking is that the French and our own government, who worked all through the weeks of August and September to try to get the committee going, should destroy what has been done, and when they had destroyed it, Soviet Russia would be left master of the field."

"The government has no intention of lending itself to anything of this kind. The mere fact that all nations still are members of the committee only shows that Europe believes this non-intervention policy is the right policy to pursue."

More Recruits Needed

British Youths Must Be Given Military Training

London.—British youths between the ages of 14 and 18 years must be given military training, War Secretary Alfred Duff Cooper said at a luncheon here.

Attacking persons opposed to new British defence plans, he said they were obliged to admit their policy would involve forcing the country to give way before any stronger nation.

"The necessity of obtaining men," the war secretary said, "is, I think, the most urgent with which we are faced at the present time."

Alberta By-Election

Edmonton.—By-election in the provincial constituency of Grouard was ordered in an Alberta writ which set the vote for Nov. 30. Nominations are to be filed Nov. 20. By-election was necessitated by the death in September of L. A. Groulx, K.C., Liberal member, who held the seat since 1924.

Debt Conversion

Quebec House Passes Measure Sponsored By Provincial Treasurer

Quebec.—Conversion of part if not the entire debt of the province of Quebec was authorized in a measure sponsored by Provincial Treasurer Martin B. Flaher and adopted on division by the Quebec legislature.

The measure did not mean the government would immediately convert the provincial debt, Premier Maurice Duplessis said in explaining the bill. He said it gave the government power to do so if desired and at the same time enabled it to secure advantage of lower money rates.

The bill had a three-fold purpose, said the premier. The legislation first authorized the lieutenant-governor-in-council to change the form of any part of the existing public debt of the province by substituting one class of securities for another, provided the capital of the debt is not increased.

Provision was made, the premier asserted, that no such substitution could be effected without the consent of the holder or unless the security is redeemed by the government.

Under limits of the bill, loans are restricted to a term not exceeding 30 years, and an interest rate not exceeding four per cent.

Defends Capitalistic System

Speaker Claims It Allows Greatest Opportunity For Human Progress

Saskatoon.—Spirited defence of the capitalistic system as allowing the greatest opportunity for human progress, a still higher standard of living and a greater measure of security, was made by H. J. Child, chairman of the Montreal Stock Exchange, in a Canadian Club address here.

He defended democracy, freedom of the individual from state control, a recognition by business leaders as well as employees of their respective rights and duties, and understanding as allowing the best measure of expansion.

"We cannot escape the conclusion that our system of government and political economy arose not because of any specific plan which men appreciated, but because it was the only system under which we could expand in accord with the economic necessity of a new country," Mr. Child declared.

"It has been demonstrated in many instances that free enterprise, operating through democratic institutions, is the only system capable of providing abundance. Any other system has brought in its wake misery and suffering in a degree which would shock the peoples of this country."

ARE ACQUITTED OF VIOLATIONS OF AGREEMENT

London.—The international "hands-off-Spain" committee acquitted both Italy and Portugal of charges of violation of the non-intervention agreement despite strenuous Russian objections.

Three separate votes on the various charges were taken and in each case the "acquittal" was unanimous except for Russia's dissent.

The Earl of Plymouth, chairman of the committee, took the initiative before the body and said the charges against Italy that she had supplied arms and munitions to Spanish Fascists, either:

1. Referred to what happened before the agreement went into effect, or

2. Had not been proved; or

3. Were not violations.

The three votes were taken on:

1. Italy's reply to charges by Russia she had supplied war materials to the insurgents in Spain;

2. Charges by the Spanish government against Portugal that she had aided the insurgents;

3. Russian allegations charging both Portugal and Italy with sending in arms and ammunition.

These developments within the committee in its lengthy sessions were disclosed in a communique.

The communique also disclosed the Portuguese representatives on the committee declined to accept Russia's proposal for control of Portuguese ports by naval vessels of one or more of the member nations of the committee.

Ivan Malaky, Russian ambassador to London, told the committee Russia would combine its control proposal with a proposal made by Lord Plymouth for control of Spanish ports and frontiers to see the non-intervention agreement was observed.

These proposals, the communique said, will be referred back by the various diplomats on the committee to their home governments.

German and Italian representatives insisted they were anxious to make the agreement effective and indicated their governments would approve, but they said the proposals must be studied.

Belgian Fascists

Want Belgium To Withdraw From League Of Nations

Brussels.—Belgian Fascists and Flemish Nationalists, opponents of Premier Paul Van Zeeland's government, demanded that Belgium announce its withdrawal from the League of Nations.

Their proposal came after a speech by Foreign Minister Paul Henry Spaak which those groups contended was a recession from the "neutrality" policy recently pronounced by King Leopold.

Spaak described Belgium's new foreign policy as "complete independence without returning to the pre-war foundation of complete neutrality." It could not be adhered to, he asserted, unless parliament provided extraordinary appropriations for military expenses.

The Redists, a Fascist organization headed by Leon Degrelle, called the "Hitler of Belgium," and the Flemish Nationalists, whose sympathies are strongly pro-German, declared Spaak had back-tracked on the king's statement the nation should refrain from collective security and the army should be reorganized only for protecting Belgium from invaders.

Would Aid Spanish

British Labor Party Says Help Should Be Given

London.—The Labor party and the trades union council, in joint session, decided aid should be given the Spanish government in the civil war with the Fascist insurgents.

The decision represented a change in the stand of the Labor party, which voted at its annual conference early this month to support the government in its non-intervention stand.

A resolution passed at the joint conference said the right of the constitutionally-elected government of Spain to secure the means necessary to uphold its authority and enforce law aid order in Spanish territory must be re-established.

The conference decided to call upon the British government in collaboration with the French government, immediately, to take the initiative in promoting an international arrangement completely to restore to Spain full commercial rights, including the purchase of munitions.

R. O. Allison and party, returning to Pincher Creek on Monday night after having attended the musical festival, had the misfortune to run his car off the grade near Lundbreck. No serious damage was done beyond the fact that some of the girl passengers suffered wet feet in helping to get the car on the road.

It used to be said that whenever a Scotman got to London he never went back home—except to fetch his brother. That notion is out of date, according to Lord Dewar, who remarked recently: "There are not nearly so many Scotmen travelling down to London as there used to be. They get born in London nowadays to save the fare."

It would be very interesting for some of the business people of the Crown's Nest Pass, who are in the habit of falling for cheap systems of advertising, to know that The Enterprise has its hands just about full of first-class stuff in the way of advertising and job printing, but in order to attend to increased business we are prepared, if necessary, to add to our staff in order that the best possible in workmanship and readable appearance would be ensured for our customers. Remember, if you want miserably cheap stuff in the way of printing or advertising, go elsewhere; but if you want the best at established prices, come to The Enterprise.

Did you ever hear of the fellow who climbed into a hollow tree to get out of the rain, and the rain swelled the old wood in the tree. When the chap tried to get out he found he was held fast. The tree stood in a small forest miles from anywhere and it seemed that his case was hopeless. He grew hysterical—thought of the folks back home; the bit of crop he harvested this year and how much better he would have been financially; and then he pictured some horrified person finding his body in the tree; the headlines in the old town paper, "Local Citizen Dies When Trapped in Tree." It was terrible—but another thought—he hadn't paid his subscription to that home town paper—in fact he had paid all his other debts and left that one. It made him feel so small that he was able to squeeze out without any difficulty, and he made post haste back to town and paid his subscription.

Moving of a family and its impediment by rail from one city to another is not an unusual occurrence, but the particular way in which they are cared for enroute and the method of showing appreciation for service rendered does give color to the occasion. This is shown by the following letter received by the assistant general passenger traffic manager of the Canadian National Railways from a patron whose family was recently transferred from Toronto to Winnipeg: "I enclose herewith cheque in payment of the passenger accommodation for my family. They all arrived safely and comprised: 6 children, 1 bulldog (in crate), 1 lady cat (in crate), 1 gentleman bantam (in crate), 2 lady bantams (in crate), 1 wife (not in crate). The wife said all were most comfortable and appreciated the unfailing kindness and courtesy of your people throughout. They were really so comfortable that the youngsters' appetites increased with every meal in the diner."

And voices bring a cry from out the mist;

"We sleep not, Comrades, do ye keep the faith?"

They gave their lives to make a better world,
Safe for the old, the helpless, and the young—

Safe for that wider brotherhood of man.

What of that victory so dearly won?

What is this foe with whom we keep the quarrel?

What is this conflict that we must suppress?

What but the idol in the marketplace—
The symbol of a nation's selfishness.

Is this remembering, that day by day
They who were with "them" falter to our doors—

Begging their humble stint of daily bread—

The heroes—nay, the victims of our wars!

That day by day they toil the weary roads,
While little children starve, and women sigh;

Our granaries overflow with golden grain!

"What say you, Comrades? Is the torch held high?"

Far on Olympus, how the Gods must laugh!

"The larks still sing; the morning comes anon!"

We heard the golden grain—and fling the chaff!

"The poppies flourish—but our rest is gone!"

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Death rate from tuberculosis has been cut in two in Ontario, Hon. Dr. J. A. Faulkner, Ontario minister of health, told a Peterborough service club.

A claw for the front of police automobiles has been invented by a famous English automobile racing driver to aid in the capture of criminals fleeing in cars.

A machine that tests 3,000 eggs an hour for quality and grades them by weight was on show recently at the Grocers' Exhibition at Royal Agricultural Hall at London.

Thomas Bryson, 93, the oldest foreign missionary in China, died at Tientsin recently. He went to China from Edinburgh in 1866 in a tea clipper which required 150 days to make the voyage.

Word reached Yorkton to the effect that Dr. Jos. Heaslip, who for one time in his career practiced medicine there and in Manville, Alta., has been appointed medical officer in the Gurkha, Ont., reformatory.

Officials of the Northern Alberta railways estimated that 3,500,000 bushels of grain, mostly wheat and with an estimated value of $2,500,000 had been marketed already this season by farmers in northern Alberta.

Just 145 years ago a man who couldn't sleep nights sent $5 to the United States treasury. Since then many remorseful citizens have followed his example, until to-day the treasury leaders showed $624,113.70, all credit to the people's conscience.

Application of the Central Alberta Dairy Pool, Limited, and the Sunny Alberta Creameries, Limited, for a reduction in the freight rates on butter in carloads, from Alia, Alta., and Red Deer, Alta., to Vancouver was dismissed in a judgment of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

New Garden Methods

Scientists Predict That Vegetables Can Be Grown In Chemical Tanks

A world of tomorrow in which families will raise their own vegetables from chemical tanks instead of gardens, getting a year's supply at the present monthly cost, was visualized by Arthur C. Pillsbury, scientist.

Pillsbury, also a naturalist, inventor, explorer, author and lecturer, said soil-less tank experiments had indicated a tenfold increase in vegetable production.

"Although the idea is not new, recent experiments have led scientists to believe that vegetables can be grown commercially in shallow tanks, partly filled with water, in which all the necessary soil requirements have been mixed," Pillsbury said.

"In one instance shallow-tank-grown potatoes produced between two and three thousand bushels to the acre compared with a United States average of 104 bushels."

Scientist Has New Theory

Believes Rust Will Some Day End All Life On Earth

A leading man of science says the earth may one day rust to death, ending all life on the planet.

Writing for the Smithsonian Institute, Dr. Henry Norris Russell described how the air's oxygen is slowly depleted by oxidizing (rusting) of iron in rocks.

"Given time enough," he said, "this inexorable process of rock decay might exhaust the remaining oxygen of our atmosphere and end it to all that breathe."

Dr. Russell figured the end would not arrive for a billion years or more.

Between $3,000,000,000 and $8,000,000,000 is expended annually by Americans in foreign and domestic lotteries, numbers games, etc.

The Best News Medium

Writer Tells Why Newspaper More Satisfactory Than Radio

Charles McIntyre, in Printer and Publisher, says: You can't put a radio broadcast in your pocket and read it at your leisure.

You can't save a clipping from a radio broadcast.

You can't skip it in a radio broadcast. You can't shut off the beauty hints and turn to the baseball scores.

You can't stop listening to answer the phone and go back to the radio without missing something.

You can't skim the news in six minutes with your toast and coffee in the mornings and get an idea of what is going on around the world.

You can't get a line on the stock market when you have only three minutes to spare.

Of course, your newspaper has limitations also. You can't put a song and dance and some bum jokes in your newspaper and get paid for them at high rates.

You can't get your clients to accept as your circulation every person in the community who can read.

You can't tell your readers at exactly that time they are going to read your newspaper, but not at all and make them like it.

Also (and this is a deep one) you are not smart enough to get your chief competitor to advertise your medium for nothing.

The Bay Route

Want Ships To Be Equipped With Gyro Compass

Revision of shipping regulations to prevent ships entering Hudson Bay unless they are equipped with a gyro compass was urged upon Hon. C. D. Howe, federal minister of transport and marine, by the Saskatchewan government. Mr. Howe intimated that such changes would have to be implemented by the Imperial Shipping Board, of which the Canadian high commission is a member. Although the insurance rates on gyro compass equipped boats are lower than on others, there is not sufficient difference to prevent boats from entering the bay, Hon. T. C. Davis said.

He contended that while the Avon River, which recently grounded on the rocks in Hudson Strait, must trouble because of engine trouble, nevertheless, had the boat been equipped with a gyro compass it would not have been so close to the rocks when it encountered trouble.

He claimed, too, that the boat was one which had been out of service for a long time and was not in proper condition to try the trip.

Predicts World War

Visitor Looks For Hostilities Within Two Years

Another world war within two years was predicted by Emil Ludwig, German-Jewish biographer, who arrived from South America with his wife.

Asked if he meant conflict between Fascist and Communist nations, Ludwig waved a hand, waved away the political labels.

"It is no longer Communism and Fascism," he said. "You have so much of state Socialism in Berlin and Rome that one can no longer use the differentiating terms."

"No, war will come because there are two conflicting philosophies in the world. It will come just as it did in the days of the religious wars in Europe. It will come because there are the aggressive and defensive nations. They will fight."

New Fire Extinguisher

Firemen responding to an alarm which reported an automobile ablaze on a highway near Mission, Texas, found the fire out when they reached the car and the motor scattered liberally with the dripping remains of ripe tomatoes. The driver explained that a farmer drove by, saw his predicament and offered the tomatoes as fire extinguishers. The men stood off and bombarded the blazing engine, putting out the fire in a few minutes.

Crashing into the Solent and tearing off his plane undercarriage, a Royal Air Force pilot managed to clear and make a perfect landing unscathed at the aerodrome in Gosport, England.

Have Great Many Uses

Old Automobile Tires Come In Handy Around The Farm

Old automobile tires play an important part in Australia's farming life. They are reincarnated into an endless variety of useful objects.

There is hardly a farm in central Australia which does not possess its old-tire stock ready for transformation by its resourceful owners. The men make "bow-yangs" from circular strips from inner tubes. These are worn around the trousers, below the knee, in approved bush fashion, to keep out dust from the plow, and are becoming popular with the girls who use them for garters—suitably covered with colored ribbons. Some farmers find that sections cut from a tire make excellent brake leathers for their carts.

Old tires are almost universally used to resole boots. Braces, belts and even handbans made of inner tube are considered correct in the "outbreak," and almost everlasting leggings are also made from them. Inner tubes also prove handy for making collapsible buckets, and rifle cases. They are also invaluable as water-tight carriers for carrying the mail from the letter boxes, which are often as much as a quarter of a mile away from the farm buildings in Australia, in a rain storm.

Inventions Of The Future

Experts Have Visions Of Corn Cob Equipped With Zippers

Speculating on the wonders of the future, United States government experts who spend their time examining agricultural patents have envisioned:

Corn on the cob equipped with zippers; bananas flourishing in Maine; grapefruit that automatically sequence itself; seeds that planted before breakfast, produce ripe vegetables for dinner, and trees that spring from acorns in a year.

"All of these fancies seem impossible at present," said a patent office statement, "but not necessarily so more so than the aeroplane or radio would have seemed to the examiners on 1936 when the present system (of industrial patents) was established."

Patents on plants were legalized long years ago and have multiplied like garden weeds in spring rains. More than 1,000 applications have been received for patents on vegetables, fruits, flowers and trees.

Approximately 200 have been issued for such things as raspberries, carnations, grass for golf greens and water lilies.

Prison Reform

Canadian Penal System Under One Authority Is Suggested

Centralization of the Canadian penal system under one authority was suggested in a letter submitted by the Halifax branch of the Prisoners' Welfare Association to the royal commission investigating penal conditions.

The association recommended reduction of minimum sentence to the penitentiary from two years to one year. There should be application of the League of Nations standard minimum rules in provincial and municipal as well as federal penal institutions, the brief said.

It suggested limiting to 500 the number of convicts in any penitentiary; graduation of status of penitentiaries; visiting committees with advisory functions and technical training for prison officials.

German Girls Require Certificate Before Taking Other Training

The Ministry of Women of the Reich is sometimes described by German women outside the home front as a sort of conscription for domestic training. Part of its work is to see that every class become proficient in household duties, and before taking up any other training she must possess a domestic proficiency certificate. At present some 12,000 families are training elementary school girls of 13, under government supervision; these girls have six marks a month pocket money and in their off time must attend one lesson at their nearest domestic training college. Government service is barred to the girl who cannot first qualify domestically.

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, weak and the world looks awful.

A more forward movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works at the cause. Chinese Are Honest

Always Carry Out Oral Contract In Letter And Spirit

Ed. Sullivan, in The New York Daily News, says: Fewer and fewer Chinese restaurants along Broadway, which used to be cluttered with them. . . . American restaurants, by installing Chinese cooks and Chinese waiters on the patronage of the celestial cafe men. . . . Theatrical agents tell me that the Chinese were the most honest of all Broadwayites to deal with. . . . Few of them would sign contracts, insisting that this would offend the honor of their ancestors. . . . None of them ever went back on their word. . . .

Over a 10-year span, the Chinese cafe men, without exceptions, fulfilled the oral contracts in letter and spirit. . . .

... Taxicab men who work the Bowery support this with additional evidence. . . . Residents of Chinatown go to Newark to gamble, and they always go by cab. . . . Sometimes the Chinese always return. . . . Sometimes the bill amounts to $30 or $40, but it is always paid plus a tip.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 8

THE CHRISTIAN WARFARE

Golden text: Be strong in the Lord, and in the strength of his might. Ephesians 6:10.

Lesson: Acts 19; Ephesians 6:10-21. Devotional reading: II. Corinthians 13:1-11.

Explanations and Comments

The Christian Warfare, Ephesians 6:10-12. To be a Christian is to be a soldier engaged in warfare against evil, and the strength for the fight comes from God. To be victorious the Christian must put on the whole armor of God, all that God provides for his overcoming, there must be no part lacking. It is not with mere man that we have to contend, Paul asserts; our antagonists are principalities, powers, world-rulers of darkness, spiritual hosts of wickedness in heavenly places.

The Equipment of the Christian Soldier, Ephesians 6:13-18. "The days are evil," Paul has said in 5:16; now he counsels his readers to withstand "in the evil day" by taking up the whole armor of God. Paul refers to the whole earthly pilgrimage as an evil time that demands constant fighting. Stand therefore, Stubbards, unwavering resistance will win for battle. Nothing short of the whole armor will suffice in this conflict.

In addition, you must take up the shield of faith, that is, a strong trust in the whole armor of God, and saving grace, wherewith you shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the evil one.

And take the helmet of salvation. The assurance that we are now saved and are being kept by the power of God will be our sure protection, like the gleaming crest of the triumphant warrior. All this spiritual armor mentioned by the apostle was for purposes of defense. The one weapon of offense he now names. It will suffice. There is need of no other. It is the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. The gospel message placed in the hands of the Christian warrior shall be firmly grasped and used with skill. All the truth revealed in Christ will be of priceless value in the spiritual conflict" (C. R. Erdman).

But all the equipment mentioned is not enough. It must be reinforced by prayer, vigilant, persistent prayer. "The greatest thing anybody can do is to pray. It is not the only thing, but it is the chief thing. When the Holy Spirit touches a man's heart, and life anew, he always breathes a new, burning passion into his heart—he draws a man aside into the prayer-place, the secret place of his life in touch with God. And he leads a man to find out this, that all the rest of the life grows out of prayer—the serving and the doing, all we are and all we attempt to do, grow out of touch with God" (S. D. Gordon).

Teacher: "Now, Robert, what are you doing? Learning something?" Robert: "No sir, I'm listening to you."

If You Have a Child ASK YOUR DOCTOR THIS

Ask Him Before Giving Your Child an Unknown Remedy

Practically any doctor you ask will warn: "Don't give your child unknown remedies without asking your doctor first."

Keep this in mind, and say "PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA" when you buy. Now obtain tablet form. Get the form you prefer. But see that what you get is labeled "Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Russia Wants Pedigree Sheep

Agents Are In England Buying Them For Export

Soviet agents are very active in Lincolnshire just now, making purchases of pedigree long wool sheep for export to Russia.

Practically all the rams which breeders are able to offer have been taken by the buyers, who state the demand is likely to continue for some years to come.

The sheep are destined for introduction into the big Russian flocks in an effort to increase the amount and quality of the wool.

Describing the method adopted by the stock experts who are making the purchases, a leading Lincolnshire breeder stated that a blood test of the sheep offered was being made in every case.

"Once they are assured that the stock offered is of good stamina and sound pedigree, the Russians are generous buyers," he added. "They take sheep on a larger scale than I have ever known before."

Bird Was Passenger

Humming Bird Killed When Goose Is Shot In U.C.

A hunter's shot that killed a Canada goose at Williams Lake, B.C., also killed a passenger—a humming bird travelling south in a soft warm berth of feathers of the larger bird.

Ornithologists say it is a common practice for humming birds to stow away in this fashion and frequently when the geese are brought down the small creatures dart away from their crashing air-liner.

Interfering With Shipments

Spanish War Means Shortage Of Raisins From Valencia

The civil war in Spain is likely to have a disastrous effect on our Christmas puddings. Usually in September the first shipments of raisins are sent from Valencia, but this year most of the crops have been destroyed by the marching armies and only very small supplies of the fruit will be available. It was reported that a small shipment had left Spain, but London importers had no information about it. Even if the fruit is there it will be difficult, for shipping companies will not allow their vessels to enter Spanish ports—Manchester, Guardian.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRAIG

That was Starr Ellison's deadly fascination—the thousand and one contradictions in her volatile personality that made Michael Fairbourne certain that it had been nothing less than inspiration which had led him to concoct that story about her having Egyptian princess ancestry. He was probably right, without having known it, except by inspiration. If truth were told, she probably had come straight down in a direct line from the sirens of all sirens. It would not have been hard to persuade Michael that Cleopatra herself had sent along her blood and her allure—through the centuries to the girl-woman who called herself Starr Ellison.

Michael stared down the long room at Lance Marlowe's guests. In the corner clustered near the flickering fire on the hearth Starr was almost hidden by the men who surrounded her. Motha, Stephanie called them. And Michael Fairbourne realized suddenly, with an attempt at mental castigation, that he was no better than the rest. He felt an uncontrollable impulse to follow where ever she went. But he had no intention of joining that crowd. He would not. At least he could keep his self-respect to that extent. So he remained on the fringe, a dark and angry moth, watching.

The group parted when someone called for fresh cocktails, and Michael saw Starr. Her exotic beauty was like a flame. She was wearing a startling costume this day—which was Russian in effect. It was all black and scarlet with little bands of fur around the throat. She carried a ridiculous little black muff of the same astrakhan that appeared to serve her for gesturing purposes as well as the fan for a Spanish woman, or to dry the tips of her long gloves. Her dusky cloud of hair, beneath a tiny scarlet hat, fell almost to her shoulders.

No one but Starr Ellison would have dared wear an outfit like that, and she knew it. Her clothes were as breath-taking as her conduct. She long since had got out of hand with Michael who at first had considered it his duty to take her shopping. Starr had ideas of her own, and she had not hesitated to let him know it. He had not spoken to her and did—but hers was the selection.

Her eyes met Michael's, and he held each other's for a strange, long moment. The girl who was the toast of a city, and the man who had made her what she was.

They had not spoken to each other intimately since their flare-up in the ballroom at Pierre's the night of Starr's debut, just about two weeks before. No longer did Michael come to the penthouse apartment and the living room with the maharajah windows for consultations or a friendly chat. That was all over. Their meetings since that party had been brief and few, and those had been tinged with brittle sarcasm and deadly barbs of caustic wit. Their defiance against each other left steel daggers always drawn, just beneath the surface. Not even an armed truce.

That one long look from gray eyes to black. . . Suddenly Starr felt little group of satellites. A freakish impulse led her to Michael. A provocative slant of those deep-fringed eyes swept the tall, stern-faced man. She stood in front of him, her black eyes lifted to his face. She said suddenly:

"You're elected to take me home, Michael!"

A stiffness crept over his big frame.

"May I ask why?" he said, his tone itself challenging.

Starr said insolently: "Because you're the most miserable-looking man present, and you need thawing out." She spread her hands and laughed. "Besides, everybody else is tight, and some of them might have the idea they could drive."

When he did not reply directly, the imperious "Play-Girl" commanded:

"Hurry! I've barely enough time to get home and slip into a bath and some sort of a dress for Tod Ranges's party at the Mayfair tonight."

Whenever she had noticed Lance Marlowe saunter up, but the ever-present Lance suggested in his smooth voice:

"Why go home? You can dress here, Starr."

A ripple of amusement greeted his words. Starr did not seem to mind the amusement. She favored Lance with one of her mysterious smiles.

DO THIS when you wake up with a Headache

ENJOY RELIEF BEFORE YOU'VE FINISHED DRESSING

"Aspirin" Tablets Dissolve Almost Instantly

In 3 seconds by step wash, an "Aspirin" tablet starts to dissolve, and go to work. Drop an "Aspirin" tablet into a glass of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is dissolving. What happens in this glass . . . happens in your stomach.

When you wake up with a headache, do this: Take two quick-acting, quick-dissolving "ASPIRIN" tablets with a little water.

By the time you've finished dressing, nine chances in ten, you'll feel relief coming.

"Aspirin" provides this quick relief because it is rated among the quickest methods for relief science has yet discovered.

"Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Demand and Get—ASPIRIN

LOOK FOR THE BAYER CROSS

It might have meant yes—or no—or perhaps.

Michael quivered suddenly with black rage. He had not missed the obvious. For Starr to change, to dress here, certainly meant that there would be here something more than her to dry the tips of her long gloves. Her dusky cloud of hair, beneath a tiny scarlet hat, fell almost to her shoulders.

He burst out savagely:

"You can keep your accommodations, Marlow. I'll take her home."

Lance's thin eyebrows rose. "All in fun, Mike, old chap—Don't get the wind up."

And immediately Michael Fairbourne was conscious of having made a transcendental act of himself, by being serious when everybody else in the place was ragging. The ripple of amusement grew to a chorus which dinned in his ears. Michael clenched his fists. Starr was laughing more amusingly than any of them.

Michael was glum and silent as they rode down in the elevator. In silence he helped her into his roadster, got in and jammed down the starter. Starr leaned back against the upholstery and snuggled down comfortably in her seat, but her heart was doing a queer little kind of pounding dance. From the corner of her eyes she glanced toward the clean-cut profile of the man beside her, admiring, in spite of all the will power she could bring to bear on that subject, the cut of his line, strongly molded, set jaw; his firm, tanned features. Why did he have to be so unreasonably attractive?

"Don't be more of an idiot than you can help," she was telling herself sternly. "This is a business arrangement, and you certainly ought to know it by now."

But even as she watched every play of his features, saw the keenness of his gray eyes as they were set on the traffic, in her heart was one dull thought. If only things could be different!

Just looking at him gripped a pain in her heart that had never before there once in her life before she had met him. He was so alive and carefully mastered and—different. In spite of the way he had acted as far as she was concerned, she could not force it from her mind that he was basically finer, more honorable, than any of the rest of that set he played around with. Certainly he was the only one who, so far, had not allowed the "mysterious" "Play-Girl" to twist him around her little finger whenever she chose. And that had been her whole intention.

Michael was still silent—furiously so. He cut his way through the gathering dusk and the mase of traffic with vicious speed.

For a second Starr closed her eyes. Her delicate cameo profile was so white, except for the too-bright coloring of her defiant young mouth. "And I am making you very rich, Michael-Hansen?"

It was the first time since the night of the debut party that she had mentioned their bargain.

He said stiffly, without moving his gaze from straight ahead: "In the last few days the sales of my book have jumped amazingly, thanks to you!"

"Thanks to my complete lack of reticence as regards the public airing of my love affairs, you mean?" she corrected him brazenly.

The line of his hard-gripped jaw was white.

"Starr! How can you?"

Her red lips twisted ironically. "Such knowledge is to be embodied in the construction of a new super-transport plane designed for regular operation on the company's coast-to-coast route."

When completed, such planes are expected to be capable of unprecedented performance at altitudes lofty enough to prevent interference from weather disturbances closer to the earth's surface.

Capt. D. W. Tomlinson piloted a laboratory plane to an altitude of 30,000 feet in 30 minutes in a recent experimental flight. From a temperature of 110 degrees at the airport, Tomlinson reported a precipitate plunge of the mercury until it touched degrees below zero at the peak of his climb.

Tomlinson hopes to reach 45,000 feet. At that height, greater efficiency in performance will be noticeable and additional data will be obtained, he believes.

New trips into the troposphere and stratosphere are planned. Accompanying Tomlinson on the flight is an engineer, who keeps a record of the apparatus being tested for altitude efficiency. Automatic camera equipment photographs the entire instrument panel, and records on film the readings of all instruments at different altitudes.

The laboratory plane is equipped with heating and oxygen apparatus. A shoulder harness a wire frame mask through which a small tube feeds him oxygen. A small microphone fastened to the mouthpiece of the mask enables him to report his progress from the plane by radio to a ground crew.

The Dead Sea

Modern Science Is Taking Out Valuable Chemicals From Its Waters

The Dead Sea, the strangest body of water in the world, is slowly coming to life again.

Lying 1,300 feet below the level of the Mediterranean, receiving an inflow of 6,000,000 tons of water daily from the River Jordan, without an outlet, the sea has puzzled archaeologists and geologists for centuries.

To-day, where once Sodom and Gomorrah stood, where David took refuge, where Herod and Mariamne fled when the Parthians captured Jerusalem in 42 B.C., modern science is taking out potash and bromine—and the Dead Sea area is alive with activity.

Once barren and thought useless, the sea's shoreline is now ringing with the sound of hammers as a new potash works, with a 30,000-ton capacity annually, has brought on a building boom.

Resorts put up by British capital, in and around the Dead Sea, are bringing thousands of visitors to the sea each winter, and homes and work buildings are springing up.

Great Britain is closely watching the potash projects, for the Dead Sea is a great source of potash and bromine for various uses.

By contrast to ordinary ocean water, which contains from four to six per cent, salts, the Dead Sea contains 25 per cent. No animal life is able to live in its waters, and very little vegetable life.

The evaporation from the sea, its only outlet from the heavy inflow causes strange-looking, blue-white clouds to float overhead, giving it a fantastic sheen from a distance.

Unprecedented Flying

American Experiments may Lead To Using Super-Transport Planes

A revolutionary change in air transportation with gigantic liners speeding across the United States thousands of feet above the altitude attained by present commercial planes is presaged by experimental flights at Kansas City, Mo.

The tests are being conducted by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. The company is collecting scientific data regarding aeroplane performance, atmospheric conditions and the feasibility of operating schedules at drastically higher altitudes than are now common.

Such knowledge is to be embodied in the construction of a new super-transport plane designed for regular operation on the company's coast-to-coast route.

When completed, such planes are expected to be capable of unprecedented performance at altitudes lofty enough to prevent interference from weather disturbances closer to the earth's surface.
